BIOCERAMIC technology was developed for rejuvenation and to counteract fatigue when applied to the skin. This technology was first used in bands applied to surgeons during lengthy operations to decrease fatigue and add stability to their hands. Bioceramic is an organic compound that not only adds to the recovery of muscle and nerves, but also serves as an antioxidant, adds muscle regeneration and helps remove toxins in the human body.

 MUSCLE RECOVERY Less soreness, less fatigue

 UV SHIELD WHITE colors UPF 30 • BLACK colors UPF 50

 QUICK DRY Wicks away moisture and dries quick

 ANTI ODOR Woven compounds deter microbe growth

 BIOCERAMIC™ Speeds up cell recovery, natural antioxidant

ACTION X uses anatomically patterned construction based on muscle mapping and circulation patterns in the body. Our patented X-Form gives support to the bodies core, assists in endurance, increases lung capacity, and allows focus to muscle groups needed for peak performance. Wear before, during, and after training and performance. Fabricated using Neo Skin panels and flat lock stitching that is so comfortable you won't realize the benefits until you take it off. Promotes better active posture.

Designed only on compression products.
